

sixdegrees

august2008

SIXDEGREESMAG.COM

Six Degrees of Detroit Dining

Grab a little New York décor mixed with premiere Pan Asian cuisine and voila! You have Chen Chow. Birmingham's hottest new eatery, features an extensive menu with a full sushi selection and an impressive drink list. Awarded Detroit's Best New Bar, owner and designer John Janviriya, Executive Chef Robert Courser and General Manager Dena Mae DiPonio deliver the best service, quality and ambiance to Chen Chow. Join them every Thursday & Sunday with sounds from resident DJ Capt'n 20. For more info visit chenchow.com

The newest location to the Andiamo family in Livonia boasts that same great taste you love and the comfortable, casual atmosphere to pair it with. What's an Italian restaurant without a little wine tasting? Join Andiamo Livonia on the patio August 19th for Sommelier Picks: Best New Release's, RSVP for $35 and enjoy a sampling of 5 wines new to the market. Chef Mike Osinski will be prepares palette pleasing appetizers that pair nicely with the daily featured selections. Start swirling those glasses. Check out andiamoitalia.com for more info.

Serving upscale world cuisine, Mosaic in Greek town celebrates 3 years running this past July, and has grown into a local favorite with its unique atmosphere. New Chef Jim Leonardo serves up some great dishes and on Friday and Saturday nights DJ's spin live. Join Mosaic once a month for their Greek Night, which features belly dancing and a celebration of all things Greek. Break out the Feta and your gladiator sandals; Mosaic is your destination for great entertainment and cuisine. Check out mosaic-detroit.com for more info.

For those of us who haven't been to Italy, Antonio's is as close as you will get without paying the international fare. Established by the Rugiero family in 1964, Antonio's serves up old school traditional dishes with real homemade gelato. Open for lunch and dinner with a full carry out menu, Antonio's has three locations including banquet facilities and a Venetian style patio. Buon appetito! Check out antoniosrestaurants.com for more info.

For the past 11 years, Big Rock Chophouse has been serving up some of the areas finest food with a cosmopolitan meets mountain lodge atmosphere. Home to the largest and oldest stone patio in Birmingham, Big Rock also features the Got Rocks Ultra Lounge, popular for its cigars, martinis and its high-class crowd. Their new Rock Rewards allows loyal customers to enjoy benefits at this favorite hangout. For reservations or more info check out bigrockchophouse.com

Black Finn has all the saloon favorites you can handle like sliders, chicken tenders, cheese sticks and chili. The newly opened restaurant joins the ranks of Royal Oak's downtown eating mecca, complete with a happy hour 7 days a week and live music on Wednesdays. It wouldn't be sports haven if you didn't have flat screen TVs covering the walls, and $2 Miller Lite Drafts available anytime a Detroit Tigers Game is going on. Book a party for any occasion or just stop by to check the score of your favorite Detroit team. Check out menus and more at blackfinroyaloak.com